

NAZAREEN EBRAHIM SHORT BIO

Nazareen Ebrahim is a South African communications and AI ethics practitioner with over 20 years' experience at the intersection of technology, public discourse, and policy. She works across AI ethics, AI literacy, governance, and policy participation, advising organisations, boards, and institutions on responsible AI adoption and strategic communication.

She is the creator of the Quadrant of AI Fundamentals™, a practical framework that integrates AI Literacy, Ethics, Governance, and Policy to help organisations move beyond fragmented efforts toward coherent, values-led implementation. Nazareen is a Director at the Minara Chamber of Commerce and a former Advisory Board Member of the South African AI Association. She is currently finalising her ISO/IEC 42001 AI Management Systems Senior Lead Implementer certification.

A regular speaker, facilitator, and moderator, she is known for translating complex AI concepts into clear, actionable insight grounded in real-world contexts, particularly across Africa and emerging markets.
